CREATIVE PRACTICE

Solo Exhibits

This is Not a Map: Routes to Watering Places in the Mojave Desert. Charcoal and compressed chalk drawings. Residency at the Institute Of (advanced) Uncertainty, San Francisco, Calif., July 2018

Group Exhibits

“Untitled,” in the show Something I’m Thinking. Laser etching and audio recording. Quarter Gallery, Minneapolis, Minn., November 2018

“Mine Tailings” and “Water Guzzlers,” in the show Summer Research Round-Up. Mounted photographic prints and Raspberry Pi video screens. Art Center College of Design Graduate Media Design Practices, Pasadena, Calif., Aug-Sept 2017

Curatorial

Experimental Geography: A Digital Geographic for the Post-Data Age (co-curated with Jennifer Scanlan). Culminating show for students in my graduate seminar “Digital Geo-Humanities.” Oklahoma Contemporary Arts Center Showroom, Oklahoma City, May 2018

Visualizing the Spaces of Actor-Network Theory. Collaboration with and mentorship of two student artists at the University of Oklahoma. Experimental Geography Studio Gallery, Norman, Okla., May-June 2018

Experimental Geography Studio (2016 – 2018) | www.geographystudio.org

- Direct a maker studio space in the geography department at the University of Oklahoma
- Focus on Geo-humanities practice and publishing in six media: digital/web, photography, video, sculpture, performance, and creative writing
- Collaborate with faculty and students from across the campus, nationally, and internationally

Los Angeles Urban Rangers (2007 – 2012)

- Design and implement tours throughout the Los Angeles metropolitan region with the aim of educating the public about their home urban environment
- Deploy the persona of the U.S. National Park Service Ranger to translate the oddities of urban nature in Los Angeles into a familiar language
- Broaden the public understanding of how natural resources like energy and water are intricately tied with the political workings of the area

Cantor Museum, Stanford University – Digital Cartography Kiosks (2013-2016)

- Conceptualize and produce a series of digital “Interactive Cartography Kiosks” for the museum’s Carleton Watkins photography exhibit, 2013
- Mentor two undergraduate research assistants in the production of the kiosks
- Re-purpose the interactive kiosks for the California College of the Arts’ Architecture Program exhibit Platforms: Augmented Histories of Space; San Francisco, 2016

Digital Humanities Field Work at Grand Canyon National Park (2013)

- Led a group of nine researchers on a two-week research trip to Grand Canyon for the project Enchanting the Desert
- Conducted a one-day planning retreat with a professional non-profit organization consultant
- Organized and led two separate backpacking trips during this field work campaign
- Accomplished goals of research trip: gain a clear understanding of the territory the photographer had to move through to make the pictures in ca. 1900
